Dear Mr. Lutz:

The National Institute of Justice hereby informs you that your laboratory's status as an NIJ-approved laboratory for testing in accordance with the scopes related to NIJ Standard 0101.06 and NIJ Standard 0115.00 identified above has been extended until the date listed. Furthermore, until a complete review can be conducted for the revised ballistic body armor program associated with NIJ Standard 0101.07 and NIJ Standard 0123.00, your laboratory is also provisionally recognized as an NIJ-approved laboratory for testing in accordance with NIJ Standard 0101.07 until the date listed per your laboratory's recent accreditation by the National Voluntary Laboratory Accreditation Program (NVLAP).

Your laboratory will continue to be recognized on NIJ's list of approved laboratories, which is made available at <https://cjttec.org/compliance-testing-program/nij-approved-test-laboratories/>. As an NIJ-approved laboratory, you are authorized to conduct compliance testing of ballistic-resistant body armor and stab-resistant body armor in accordance with the standards listed above. All terms and conditions noted in your signed NIJ Compliance Testing Program Laboratory Application and Agreement are in effect and will remain so unless otherwise modified in writing by NIJ.

Any questions regarding your laboratory status should be directed to the NIJ Compliance Testing Program by email at bactp@nijctp.org or by telephone at 984-439-5241, or to me by email at mark.greene2@usdoj.gov or by telephone at 202-598-9481.

Sincerely,

Mark Greene, Ph.D.
